For Parents/Caregivers

Discussion Topic: Behavior

Guest: Joy F Johnson, M.Ed, M.S.

Join us for a discussion about behavior and how we are coping during this difficult time.

*Joy Johnson is a Behavior Specialist, Inclusion Specialist, and Autism Advocate who partners with organizations, individuals, and families to improve the lives of those impacted by autism. After spending years working in clinical settings, non-profits, and schools, her experience enables her to truly serve and represent ASD community members in various contexts. She holds a Masters in education, a Masters in psychology with a specialization in ABA, and she is currently a PhD candidate. In addition to her extensive education and professional experiences, she has a great deal of personal experience. She is diagnosed with autism herself which provides her with unique knowledge, perspective, and source of passion.

WE NEED YOUR HELP!

We have received funding from Towson University's BTU program to support our efforts in providing caregivers and autistic people support during the Coronavirus Pandemic. We need your input on what kind of support would be most helpful. Please complete the brief survey at the link below and share your thoughts with us.
